Horrors Multiplied by the Bloodthirsty Turks—Further Terrible Testimony.

Neither Age Nor Sex Spared—Voices of Blood Crying for Vengeance.

Boston, Mass., May 20.—A letter relating to the alleged Armenian atrocities has been received in Boston from an American resident in Turkey. Extracts from this letter are as follows: While at Moosh, February 15th and 27th, 1895, I saw a large number of persons who fled and found temporary refuge in the city and surrounding villages. Tavon, a most intelligent person of the village of Semal, gave a deeply pathetic account of his experiences. He is one of five brothers, one of whom died in a Moosh prison. Three brothers and a large number from their household were killed in the massacre. When the soldiers came, some Armenians fled to the Turkish villages, but the government called the chief men, and told them that they defended the refugees at their peril. Friendly Turks took this to the poor people, bidding them flee for their lives.

Tavon at the commission said a certain Turk, Saligah, came to him and offered him $25 if he would testify falsely. To this he said: "Will you give me back my brothers?" He was exhorted to tell the truth and nothing but the truth, to which he said: "I would rather be cut to pieces and go to hell than tell lies." He continued:
"One morning when I was at Moosh the door of the little room which I occupied was opened and in came two persons, women, we supposed, by their dress. One was a wounded man from Sassoun district, in disguise. He sought the opportunity to be before the commission. That he would not be allowed this, unless careful measures were taken, we had seen abundant proof.
The man's name is Ayak; he was from Semal. He said there were ten persons in his father's family; his father, brother and cousin were killed by bayonet wounds before his eyes. One brother and he escaped, both wounded. He said the enemy gave word to the villagers that "There is mercy for you," whereupon about 300 led by the priest, Der Hobannes, presented themselves before the officers, avowing that they were loyal subjects of the Sultan. The order was given to take out the eyes of the priest. They then tore away his beard and skinned his face, pierced his throat and forced him to drink a cup of water which ran from the wounds in his throat right and left. Death at last ended his sufferings.

Immediately after this dreadful slaughter by bayonets followed. Ayak was severely wounded and fell. Others fell upon him, but he remained for a time unconscious beneath the bodies of the slain. Rousing from his well-nigh death stupor in the night, he made his way to some bushes and hid for three days. A cousin, Hachig by name, also from Semal village, helped Ayak to go to the shelter of some great rocks not far away. Here he stayed three days, his cousin bringing him food by stealth. Finding he could walk, he set out alone and by slow stages was able to reach the village of Shushanamerog, where he had an uncle living.

About a month's stay there he returned to Semal, where the surviving members of his father's family were, and had begun to remove some of the houses which the soldiers had torn down and burned a short time ago. An attempt to rebuild was in obedience to an order from the governor to his subordinates. Ayak was living with a few others who had escaped the massacre when word reached them that the foreign consuls had arrived at Moosh and wished to see persons who could testify concerning the events at Sassoun. He came to Porter's village and was kept about ten days in hiding, where the Turks having learned that a man from Semal was there, tried to find him.
The villagers believed they sought him with the intention of hindering him from appearing before the commission. He came to us disguised in woman's dress and we put him in an inner room. He remained until dusk, when we sent him away, and he was taken in charge by Gregorians. The English consul approved and the poor man was unable to appear before the commission. We saw scars of bayonet wounds, twenty-one on the back and nearly as many on the head. "I shall never forget that sight," said Tavon. "I saw another refugee who said he was from Semal, that his name was Asadador, and four from his family had been killed. He alluded to the terrible tortures inflicted on Der Hobannes—to his having his eyes taken out while alive. At Derkevak I saw three women refugees from Semal. One of them, weeping, said:
"I had two brothers, a son-in-law and other relatives killed." All three said that the black soldiers (alluding to dark uniforms) attacked and slew by the bayonet large numbers of people. They added that protection was offered the women and children on condition that they should adopt the Moslem faith, but they added, rather than do this we fled. After hiding in the shelter of the rocks for several days, they were able to make their escape. "At Havadorio, a man by the name of Torres, also from Semal, told me that his son, a brother, his brother's daughter and sister were killed in massacre. He stated that after five days of dire conflict he fled and hid for ten days among trees, subsisting on fruit and a kind of thistle. He further stated that he helped to open a pit or trench and removed and buried five bodies, one of whom was the priest, Hobannes, who met death after severe and prolonged tortures at the hands of the soldiers. He said he wished to remove many more bodies and bury them, but the stench of the decaying bodies was so great he could not do it. He added, "at the time I buried my sister I cut off her hair, and it is now in my mother's possession." When his brother was seized and hurried off by the soldiers, he took off his cap and threw it back to his mother with the words, "they are going to kill me, keep this as a remembrance." The man was cruelly murdered. A woman by the name of Raham, formerly of Dalorig, and now staying at Havadorio, said: "Our family numbered twelve, of which five were killed. My husband's brother and his son were hacked to pieces. My husband received a terrible wound and he is now at Stagberig monastery. I saw them kill my brother's wife. A soldier took up a large stone and struck her so violently that her brains were scattered and she fell dead.

When I saw this and others killed by bayonet I wept and beat my head so now I am blind." All classes of people feel that the present state of things is far from safe, and the query is continually raised, "What is to come?" Alas for the world to-day if the tongues of its statesmen be mute in an hour like this. We cannot believe England will hold her peace.

"Magditch, a native of Hakman, staying temporarily at Havadorio, said: "There were thirty-two in our house, five were killed, two died of fright, and I do not know where the rest are. My brother Gasper fell, wounded by a bayonet. Afterwards they put fire on him and he died.
His children, a boy and a girl, died of fright. I saw a nephew killed by a gun.
When the soldiers blew the trumpets and began to strike, they seized my nephew's wife, and removing a young boy child from her, slew it. We buried the poor woman, but they took the body out of the grave and left it unburied." Shamman, a woman from Datovig, told her sad story as follows: "Of the thirty who composed her family, her husband, his brother and two others were known to have been killed. The soldiers carried her handsome son of about three years away a captive. An Armenian saw the boy and offered a cow and three sheep for a ransom, but it was rejected. A woman from a village of forty houses told how she escaped by telling the soldiers: 'I'll be a Turk and follow you.' She said she saw them kill her husband and when a soldier seized her she appealed to an officer near by imploring his aid for her life; he said: 'Let her go.' They beat her, took most of her clothes and allowed her to go.
She said she could hardly get on because of the slain persons who covered the ground and that sometimes she had to step on the corpses. She hid among the rocks and escaped, but was sick a month from the effects of the beating. She said she knew several women who, having hid with their children behind trees and rocks, were compelled to choke the children when they began to cry from hunger, lest the soldiers heard their cries and discovered them.
"Sometimes distressed mothers would fill the children's mouths with dirt to drown their cries when they saw any soldiers near. I knew one woman and heard of another who were begging in the streets of Moosh whose reason had been shattered by the experiences they had passed through. Some of the most harrowing stories we have heard have been told by soldiers, not a few of whom claim to have been unwilling agents, but were compelled to obey the commander's orders. One of the soldiers on his return to Moosh, after the slaughter, gave the following incident: "During the terrible time at Province, in passing by a field one morning, he saw a little motion among the grain, and drawing near found three little boys huddled together. He told them not to be afraid, he would take care of them.
Upon reporting the case to his superior officer, he was allowed to bring the boys into the camp and make a little booth, like a shelter, for them. He fed them several days and hoped to save their lives, but after about a week had passed when he went to carry them bread one day, he found they had been murdered."

Chignecto Marine Railway and What
It Involves—The Manitoba School Case.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) OTTAWA, May 20.—The annual report of the Dominion penitentiary was presented today. Mr. Corbould pressed for further papers relating to Westminster, which Mr.
Foster promised this week.

It has been decided that the budget debate cannot terminate this week.

Parliament will adjourn from Wednesday until Tuesday.

The first conference on the Manitoba school case takes place to-morrow. It is feared it will not be possible from the present attitude of the parties interested to effect a compromise.

Canada's exhibit at the World's Fair cost $243,000.

Mr. Provand, member for Glasgow, is here urging the government to grant an extension of two years for the completion of the Chignecto marine railway. If permission be granted and the undertaking be completed, Canada will be involved in an annual subsidy of $170,000. Mr. Welsh denounced the project to-day as a wild cat scheme.

Senator Reid, of Carleton, has arrived.
The Senate resumes business to-morrow.

Northwest Highwaymen.
WINNIPEG, May 20.—A party of tramps arrested for holding up a farmer were found to have $650 in their possession. It is supposed this sum was got by robbery.

Intercolonial Wharf Destroyed.
HALIFAX, May 20.—Fire destroyed the Intercolonial railway terminal wharf. Loss, $300,000. The wharf was a thousand feet long, on which was built an extensive coal trestle and two freight sheds. Fifty-six head of cattle, owned by Leaman & Co., were cremated. Twenty empty freight cars were also lost. There are indications of incendiarism.

Not Guilty of Libel.
CALGARY, May 20.—Craig and Turnock, editors of the Tribune, were adjudged not guilty of libel in the suit brought against them. There are three more counts to try.

Died By Her Own Hand.
WINNIPEG, May 20.—A girl named Greber was found in a dying condition in a block on Main street this afternoon. She died half an hour after being discovered. It is supposed she caused her death by attempting self-abortion.

CABLE NEWS.

Meeting of the German Bimetallie League—Currency Discussed in the Prussian Diet.

Rumor, But Not Yet Verified of Premier Lord Rosebery's Resignation.

LONDON, May 20.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Times says that at the bimetallic league meeting on Saturday there was much oratory but there were no decisions. Count von Mirbach argued that there was no doubt that Prince Bismarck was a bimetallicist, because his son, Count Herbert Bismarck, had joined the league.

In to-day's debate in the lower house of the Prussian diet on a resolution similar to the bimetallic resolution already attempted in the upper house, Dr. Otto Arendt predicted that Hon. A. J. Balfour's advocacy of bimetalism portended the final victory of the cause in England.

After a period of panic following two severe earthquake shocks on Saturday, the inhabitants of Florence and neighboring places are returning to their dwellings satisfied that there is no longer any danger. Thousands of people spent Saturday and Sunday nights in the streets, some in fear of falling buildings.
Wild rumors have been in circulation in the lobby of the House of Commons to the effect that the Prime Minister had resigned, or was about to resign, and that a dissolution of parliament would probably take place next month. No confirmation of these rumors could be obtained.

The Old Bailey court was crowded at 11 o'clock this morning when Justice Wilde, accompanied by the Lord Mayor of London,
the Right Hon. Sir Joseph Keble and several aldermen, took their seats upon the bench preparatory to the commencement of the second trial of Oscar Wilde. Wilde was accompanied by Lord Douglas of Hawick and Rev. Stewart Headlam, his two bond-men. He looked haggard, but walked smartly into the dock, where he took his stand beside Alfred Taylor, charged with a similar offence. Sir Edward Clark, Q.C., immediately made an elaborate argument in favor of having Wilde tried separately. The judge agreed to this and decided to try Taylor first. Sir Edward Clark then dwelt on the great injury which had been done his client by having to wait while Taylor was tried, but Wilde looked pleased as he stepped from the dock and was again released after filing his personal bond in $12-500 and finding two securities. It is probable Wilde's case will go over to the next session of the central criminal court.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

The Celebration Parades of the Cyclists—Tug-of-War Tournament.

Every member of the Victoria Wheel-men's Club is expected to be in attendance at the meeting this evening, as the club will take action upon matters of great importance to the individual members, and as large a vote as possible is desired. The new track at Oak Bay is rapidly nearing completion and the date of the opening meet will be named this evening. Already riders from Portland, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and Olympia, as well as the speedy men of the province, have promised to attend, and the club expect to have the best meet of the season at the opening. It is expected that final action on the question of club uniform and club dues will be taken this evening, and arrangements made for the issuing of "season tickets" to all members who desire to use the track for training purposes. The committee in charge of the decorated parades on May 24 will meet at the clubroom at 7 p.m. to complete arrangements for the parades and appoint judges of decoration and a reception committee to look after all visiting wheelmen. The arrangements in regard to parades and club drill are as follows: On Thursday, May 23, at 4 p.m., the fancy drill, under the direction of Capt. Minor, will be given at Beacon Hill.
The decorated parade will take place at 10 a.m. on May 24, starting from the clubrooms, and the illuminated parade will be given at 8.30 p.m. of the same day. It is expected that between 150 and 200 wheels will be in line in the parades.

Of the four teams already entered for the tug of war tournament to take place at Caledonia park on Friday and Saturday next, good judges predict that the final tug will lie between the Scots and fire brigade, though many regard the longshoremen as extremely formidable rivals. Mr. H. D.
Helmcken, M.P.P., has been agreed upon by the captains of the teams as referee, and as he has kindly consented to act it is certain that the tournament will be conducted in a strictly impartial manner, and that the best team will win. Entries will close on Thursday evening.

NEWS OF THE PROVINCE.

French and English Capitalists Interested in B.C. Mines—Westminster Assizes Ended.

Vancouver Cannot Close the Barbers' Shops on Sunday—Another Line of Steamships.

(Special to the Colonist.)

VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, May 20.—A mining expert has arrived from England to examine the Bobby Burns mine. The French capitalists whose visit to the Quenelle Forks mines was chronicled in the Colonist have returned to the city. They are very reticent, but say that in British Columbia there is enough gold for all and that this province will have the next boom. Baron de Batz, the celebrated French expert, is one of the party.

In a brief interview Mr. Pellew-Harvey, the mining expert and mineral assayer, stated to the Colonist representative that he was so busy examining ores and replying to inquiries that he could scarcely find time to fill his orders. He said that inquiries are coming in from all over the world; from men of great wealth and experience, who had never thought of British Columbia before. He confidently expected that when the Cariboo and Kootenay showed the figures for this season's work the commencement of the mining boom in this province would be due, and that Australia and South Africa would give way to it. Mr. Harvey said: "We have as rich a country as any in the world; we only want the wealth to develop it."

According to an announcement in the London Standard the ships of the Holt-Oceanic line, which have been running from Liverpool to Yokohama, will continue their journey to Vancouver and San Francisco, and will carry ore from here to England, their route on each trip being Vancouver, San Francisco, the Orient and England.

The barbers' shops will remain open on Sundays. The city solicitor decided to-night that there was no legal way to close them. All the stores will be closed by law on Sunday next.

Free postal delivery is to be extended to Mount Pleasant, and more carriers will be taken on.

At a private meeting of the council to-night Ald. Gallagher's motion to again reduce all civic salaries was voted down by 7 to 2.

WESTMINSTER.

WESTMINSTER, May 20.—A ratapayers association is to be organized here.

The roof of the drying-house of the Pacific Coast Lumber Company's shingle mills was burned off yesterday, and a small engine shed close by was also consumed.

Word has been received that five houses with the contents in the Indian village of Tohewassen, near Ladner's, have been destroyed by fire.

A man named Curry ran away with a married woman recently from Westminster, and on arriving at Mission stole a quantity of household effects for the purpose of starting housekeeping. At the assizes at Westminster Curry was sentenced to four years' imprisonment for the last offence.

Godfridaon, who cruelly assaulted a Lillooet Indian last September, has been sentenced to three years in prison.

The assizes terminated to-day.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, May 20.—A large number of visitors are expected from Vancouver, Comox, Union and other parts of the island for the celebration of the 24th. An excellent and good programme has been arranged which will probably last over two days.

At the half yearly meeting of the Nanaimo Gas Company on Saturday it was considered advisable to reduce the price of gas from $3 to $2.50 per thousand, and in view of the heavy expenditure on the extension of the works it was decided not to declare any dividend.

DUNCAN.

DUNCAN, May 20.—An advertised "grand rally" of the Liberal party, which scarcely materialized as such, took place at the Agricultural hall on Saturday evening. Some fifty persons, including Victorians, were present. No resolutions were offered to the meeting.

Lieut. Governor Dowdney, Miss Allison, Miss Ellison, Mr. Earle and Capt. Barnes were here on Saturday. His Honor has had some very fair trout fishing in the Cowichan river. Dr. Dickson reports having secured several excellent trout of three pounds each and over, in Quamichan lake. Mr. and Mrs. Musgrave and Mrs. Pimbury returned on Saturday from a visit to Harrison Hot Springs.

MAINLAND MATTERS.

(From the Kamloops Sentinel.)

The Indian cigar factory has received a sample of tobacco leaf grown at Kelowna. It is fairly good, but not so well cured as it might be, and has not the age to bring it to its best. The leaf might do well for binders. A large acreage has been planted this season.

The Van Winkle mine is running night and day with a full head of water. The manager wants to make hay while the sun shines. Both dredgers are idle. Mr. Youngs, of the Finch mining company, will leave for the East shortly to await the fall of the river.

Arrival of a Nova Scotia Schooner to Join the British Columbia Fleet.

Fine Catch of Seals Off the Falkland Islands—The "Miowera" Sails To-Day.

An unexpected arrival in port yesterday afternoon was that of the sealer Director, of Halifax, the craft which Captain Gilbert was known to be bringing round the Horn, but which was thought to have sailed direct for the Japan coast. To go to the Asiatic side before coming to Victoria was Captain Gilbert's original intention, but on reaching about 10 south latitude he was obliged to alter his course, as his water supply would not carry him through. He started from Halifax with a crew of twenty-five men on December 20, and was off the Falklands in forty-eight days. Here thirty-six days were spent sealing, and as a result Captain Gilbert brings to Victoria the largest catch of the season—610 skins. These were all secured in four days, as a sudden change in the weather caused suspension of operations. The first day the boats were lowered 320 seal were taken. The seal, so far as Captain Gilbert could tell, are exactly the same as those killed further north, although, it is said, they bring a smaller price. Leaving the Falklands the Director sailed at Thetis Bay for water and then came north, meeting with nothing except bad weather. At Thetis Bay Captain Gilbert was asked by the light-house keeper to report the transfer of the life station there to Success Bay, about twenty miles distant, located in a more dangerous and exposed part of the coast line of Terra del Fuego. Henceforth the Director will make Victoria her home, it being Capt. Gilbert's intention to reside here. Mrs. Gilbert having accompanied him on the voyage out. The schooner is a double-top-masted craft of 87 tons burden and is but five years old, having been built in Lunenburg, N.S., in 1890. She is thoroughly seaworthy, is fitted up very comfortably and sits prettily in the water, and since her arrival in port has attracted much attention. There are two other Nova Scotia vessels on route here to join the home fleet and one may be expected to arrive in about a month. They are the Carrie C. W. and Fortuna. The former is a 91 ton vessel owned by Captain Fulton, while the latter is a vessel of 90 tons register, captained by J. Cousins, and owned in Halifax.

MORE SEALERS HOME

A fair wind blowing up the Straits yesterday afternoon brought the schooner Enterprise home from her spring cruises. She reports bad weather and a few accidents, but nothing serious. In a heavy blow off Sitka in March last her canoe was all smashed on the deck by a heavy sea. These were replaced at Masset, and the vessel afterwards suffered no injuries from the weather. The Saucy Lass was spoken during the cruise, and the Florence M. Smith, Ainoka and Aurora were either seen or heard from lately. The first mentioned is thought to be bearing close on to Victoria. Another sealer which has been in port since Saturday evening is the C. D. Rand, of Vancouver. Her catch is 143 skins, while that of the Enterprise is 230.

THE "VICTORIA" INWARD BOUND.

The N. P. liner Victoria left Yokohama on Friday morning last, and will be due here on the 30th inst. As usual, she has a heavy cargo, including several shipments of the first of this season's teas. The cargo is divided thus: Seven hundred and fifty tons for overland points, 200 bales of silk for New York, 400 tons for Victoria, and 1,000 tons for Portland and Puget Sound. She has 75 steerage passengers for British Columbia, and 50 for the United States.

MARINE NOTES.

The American barkentine Funk and the Nicaraguan bark Bundale are under charter to load lumber at the Brunette mill, The Nicaraguan barkentine Wrestler and the American schooner Bartlett are at present loading cargoes at the mill, the former for China and the latter for San Pedro.

The Empress of India is due from the Orient to day on her twenty-first homeward voyage. She carries a full freight and but a fair number of saloon passengers. She has, besides, 65 Chinese and 80 Japanese.

The Silverhow sailed from Galway, Ireland, on the 6th inst., for Liverpool, where she is to load general cargo for Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle. She is to sail for this port about mid June.

The sailing of the steamship Miowera has been postponed until to-day to give her time to get all cargo aboard.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all other Remedies Failed B.B.B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

GENTLEMEN.—To say all I ought to in favor of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was 10 years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors, both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B.B.B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterward I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to this present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. KILMER,

MAN AND HIS SURROUNDINGS.

TO THE EDITOR:—The title of my friend Colonel Baker's interesting address to school teachers at Toronto, is rather misleading, for what the lecturer really deals with is not simply the "brain," or "brain power," but the relation of man to all his surroundings. His object, apparently, is to show that the more our teachers understand man, individually and socially, the better able will they be to educate the offspring of man. This is true in the general—and indeed a truism—but must be subject, as I shall show, to limitations in practice. The imperfect title of the lecture appears to be the chief cause of the criticism which I notice Colonel Baker is undergoing, for having brought, perhaps, into undue prominence, the physical, as compared with the psychological side of his subject. It is well, in these days, I venture to say, that a British Columbian public man should emit any utterance that is worthy of being criticized.

Upon the general subject of the lecture a word or two, perhaps, may not be amiss. The brain and nerves are parts of our bodily organism, which latter is composed wholly of matter that existed before our birth, and will, in some condition, continue to exist after our death. Cerebral physiology has nothing to say about a future life; it shows, however, with the aid of molecular physics, that by no possibility can thought and feeling be in any sense the products of matter. The brain only appears to record the modifications to which it is subjected. What really goes on in the brain is a series of very complex molecular movements with which thought and feeling—human consciousness generally—are, in some unknown way, correlated, not as effects, or as causes, but as concomitants.

We do not know what human consciousness is, or how it operates on the brain or receives impression through the brain, nor can man form any conception of the higher "ego" which tells him that he has this consciousness. It is probable that the operations of consciousness, in connection with the brain and nerves, are related to or caused largely by the ceaseless activities or changes which, under more or less regulation by the will-power, which is part of consciousness, go to form the really shifting yet generally predictable attitude of the individual to circumstances outside, or what we call his "character."

Stated in this way, it appears that a physiological study of the "brain" might be useful to a common school teacher in describing the human body, but any attempt to pass beyond would bring him face to face with abstract speculations, which are only adapted for a few of the highest thinkers. He would enter a region wherein metaphysical analysis has confessed itself baffled, or, if he adopted any of the "issues" that now have vogue, he might be teaching practically an incoherent religion.

These circumstances and the necessity that public school teaching in general must be correlated, on one side, with the average capacity of the teachers, and on the other with that of the pupils, have pretty well prescribed what common school teachers should be prepared to teach. It would serve no useful purpose to place their functions on too high a plane. They have to train children of, say from six to fourteen years of age. It is reasonable to expect that they should by their character—as Col. Baker well remarks—and by their certified qualifications be able to illustrate and teach the best morality of their age, and at the same time to open the minds of the young, as far as may be, to some appreciation of their inheritance and surroundings and of the wonders of the organic creation.

The moral beauty, and the duty, of self-reverence, self knowledge and self-control should be unfolded and enforced. The faculty of observation, and the mental habit of method and arrangement (noticeably rare among adults) should be quickened and cultivated by such training in science as can be undertaken in a school. The pupil should have, also, a knowledge of the very broadest facts of geology and history, and how the larger features of the world he lives in—physical and political—came to be what they are. Elementary geography, some notions of astronomy, and a rudimentary acquaintance with drawing and music should find a place in the curriculum.

The hand training of the young should not be neglected. It is, I need hardly say, of the first importance that teachers, generally, should appreciate the very real distinction between "instruction" and "education"—between merely burdening the memory of the scholar and educating the faculties of his mind. But, after all—supposing all this to have been bestowed or achieved—the value of the young school-trained man, when he enters the world of active life and proceeds towards his destiny, will depend on his character, on his moral qualities and principles. True we are thrown back to consider the most efficient means and the true purposes of all education. How can we best use such limited means as common schools afford to counteract, or supplement, the effects of heredity and surroundings?

Strange, is it not, that the excesses of ecclesiasticism in human history forbid us in these days to sanction the teaching of religion in our public schools, though true religion is everything, and the history of the religion of a people is their truest history! Strange, that the teacher has to go furtively to the only well, and to conceal the pitcher from which he distributes, and must distribute, the water of life to his thirsty scholars! Your obedient servant, GILBERT MALCOLM SPROAT.

AMERICAN FINANCE.

The fiscal year which ends on the 30th of June next has been for the United States, from a business point of view, a very unfortunate one. The depression has continued and it is by no means certain even now that it is passing away. There are indications of a revival, but so much depends upon the policy which the Government may adopt on the currency question that no one can tell when the business of the country will be in a worse condition than ever.

The revenue has hitherto been very far from meeting the expenditure. At the end of last month the deficiency had reached the very serious amount of $50,000,000. The deficit for the first thirteen days of the present month was $5,150,157. It is calculated that by the end of the year it will reach $60,000,000, if not more. Last year the deficit was $60,000,000. If the currency were in a settled condition these deficits, large as they are, would hardly be regarded as even serious by so rich and so prosperous a country as the United States. But the currency is the reverse of settled. The men who favor the free coinage of silver are many and they are very active. If they get the upper hand, which at this moment does not seem improbable, the most serious results are predicted, not by alarmist politicians, but by thinking men who have studied the subject long and carefully as a mere economic problem, without any reference to politics.

The paper of the United States and its silver coin are all redeemable in gold. They have, therefore, at the present time a gold value. Here is a list of United States currency, the value of which depends upon the government's ability to redeem it with gold when required:

Silver certificates	$ 337,000,000
United States notes	317,000,000
Treasury notes	153,000,000
National bank notes	207,000,000
Current certificates	58,000,000
Subsidiary silver coins	76,000,000
Total	$1,179,000,000

These notes and certificates and coins are nearly all in the hands of private persons. If a law were passed by the United States Congress permitting the Government to redeem them with silver whose intrinsic worth is not more than fifty cents in the dollar, it is not easy to conjecture what would be the result. This is what the St. Paul Pioneer Press says would be one of the effects of the change:

Take away its gold redemption fund and it would sink to the silver basis; that is, be redeemable only in silver, now worth, roundly speaking, fifty cents on the dollar. So that by the substitution of the silver for the gold standard the holders of United States currency would lose $584,000,000. It would not be much comfort to them that the gold owners would be able to realize a big premium on their holdings.

Seeing such a change as this impending, it is not surprising that the business men of the United States are nervous and liable to get flurried when appearances indicate that the Government is either unwilling or unable to redeem its paper with gold. President Cleveland has intervened twice to make their minds easy on this head. He has assured the nation that, as long as he is at its head, the Government will meet its liabilities with honest money and pay a hundred cents for every dollar it owes. And no doubt he will be as good as his word. But Mr. Cleveland will not always be President, and the silver question is certain to be the great issue at the next Presidential election. The silver men are industriously preparing for it, and if hard work and zealous and persistent advocacy count for anything in the States, they will make the fight a hard one.

The Pioneer-Press shows how much depends on the ability and the willingness of the Government to meet its liabilities with gold. It says further:

But that is not all. About $3,000,000,000 of deposits are held in the national and state banks of the country. That is the banks owe that amount to their depositors, while the savings bank deposits amount to $1,748,000,000, making a total of $4,748,000,000, the value of which to the owners of these deposits would be cut in two, making another frightful loss of $2,374,000,000, falling upon all classes of people, largely upon the wage earners. Would they be contented by the large gains of the owners of the stock of gold, a large part of which is held in the vaults of the banks?

Then there are thousands of millions more invested in insurance policies, in bonds and mortgages and other securities, the owners of which would suffer an immense loss in the depreciation of the standard of value. Free silver would be a mighty pleasant thing for the banks, which could pay their obligations to their depositors at fifty cents on the dollar, while the gold accumulated in their vaults would be worth twice what it was before.

This is the conservative view of the silver question very plainly put. The theories of the free silver men all appear based upon the assumption that it is possible for the Government to give to silver a value other and greater than it can command in the markets of the world.

CANADA AHEAD.

The blue-ruin howlers hysterically deny that Canada is passing through the period of depression with less injury to her interests than almost any other country in the world. But sneers and gibes and hysterical screams are not arguments. A country whose trade is increasing cannot be in a bad way. It will have to be admitted that it is in a better condition and that its prospects are more hopeful than countries whose trade in the same period has decreased. There are figures that the howlers cannot show to be inaccurate which prove that while the trade of Great Britain and of the United States has decreased that of Canada has increased. While those two great countries have been going backward, Canada has been going ahead. "Comparing 1894 with 1890," says the Montreal Gazette, "the foreign commerce of Great Britain has suffered a shrinkage of no less than $350,000,000, and that of the United States a shrinkage of $100,000,000. The foreign commerce of Canada in the same period increased $18,000,000."

A QUEER GRIEVANCE.

The workmen of Glasgow had recently a very peculiar grievance. The city owns the tramways and, of course, issues the tickets. It was observed by the men riding on the cheap cars run for their convenience that on the back of each ticket was a Scripture text. They thought nothing of this until they found that the tickets for the passengers who paid the full fare were without texts. The men took offence at what they considered an invidious distinction and an offensive implication. They could not see why the Corporation should take this mode of edifying them while they permitted their richer fellow-citizens who used the trams to go uneducated. Consequently a delegation of the men waited upon the city fathers to find out why the distinction had been made—were they greater sinners than the citizens of Glasgow who had more money in their pockets? The Corporation explained that they had no intention to offend anyone or to make distinctions between classes. The inscriptions on the tickets were in fact a mere matter of business. "A certain pious gentleman" had offered the Corporation a certain sum for the privilege of printing the texts he supplied on the class of tickets that the men had purchased and they had accepted his offer. In order to take away any ground of offence, the Corporation offered to print the abbreviation "Adv." after each text for the time to come, which was done, to the satisfaction of all concerned. It is said that "Adv." added to some of the texts did not by any means increase their impressiveness.

FREE TRADE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

None but those who are very ignorant or wilfully blind try to make those who listen to them believe that everyone in the Three Kingdoms is satisfied with the British policy of free trade. There are very many, and the number is increasing, who complain of it bitterly and declare that it is cruelly unjust to large numbers of British producers. Here is an extract from a letter from England which shows in a lively way that free trade as it is in England in many important cases favors the foreigner at the expense of the home producer:

Things are bad here. Everything comes from abroad. Cassels even are now issuing a book "Printed in Holland," and Bibles from the Oxford press have a little note: "Printed in Germany." It seems as if free trade, all very well in theory, practically is a failure unless every one goes in for it. One protectionist country spoils the lot. I sincerely trust you will keep Mr. Cartwright out in Canada. When the ordinary Englishman gets up, he breakfasts on eggs from Holland, Danish butter, Vienna bread—made by German workmen, of American flour. For lunch he has nice German, Dutch or American cheese, perhaps an Oxford rabbit, and for dinner Australian beef or mutton, potatoes from Holland, and greens from Jersey, and American canned fruits. In the meantime Essex farmers are going through the bankruptcy court at the rate of three hundred per year.

It is not to be supposed that all the good land in Great Britain is under cultivation, or that all its inhabitants are able and willing to work carefully occupied. There are millions of acres untilled and hundreds of thousands of able bodied men and women out of employment. It has been calculated that there is land enough in England and Wales, Scotland and Ireland, to feed 123,000,000 of people. Another estimate made by Lord Lauderdale is that there is sufficient available land in the United Kingdom to maintain a population of 200,000,000. We think the success of the policy which leaves the people of a country with such magnificent agricultural resources at the mercy of foreigners for their bread and their cheese, and a hundred and one things that could easily be raised at home, may very reasonably be questioned. This is what free trade has brought England to—It has diverted labor from the land and made the people dependent on the foreigner for their food.

JAPAN'S MERCHANT MARINE.

The Japanese are growing in importance in more than one direction. We have seen what they have been able to do in war, but it is not yet very well known that they are making something like corresponding advances in commerce. An indication of this is that they are making large purchases of steamships. The publishers of the Record of American and Foreign Shipping furnish their subscribers every month with a list of new vessels launched and old ones which have changed owners during the preceding thirty days. The last of these lists gives the following information relative to the purchases of ships for the Japanese trade:

In April, for instance, a Tokio firm, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, bought the Denbighshire, of 1,663 tons, changing its name to Fukuoka Maru, and the Altowater, of 1,611 tons, which becomes the Heijo Maru. The Lennox, 1,327 tons, has been bought by an Osaka firm and is now the Kawamura Maru, and the Metapedia, 1,454 tons, will also sail, hereafter, from Osaka as the Nara Maru. These steamers were all owned in England. Their combined tonnage is 6,055.

The records of previous months show that the Japanese are continually adding to their merchant marine. One of the Japanese companies has already more than a score of steamers, "and does not only a big coasting trade between the northern and southern parts of Japan, but has made its flag familiar in all the Orient from Siberia around to India." This is not the only large shipping firm in Japan. The Japanese are wide awake to the advantages they possess as a maritime people, and they may be depended upon to make a good use of them. It will not be long before they begin to build their own vessels, and before many years there may be more than one line of Japanese Pacific steamships.

When so many people are taking and deriving benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, why don't you try it yourself? It is highly recommended.

The latter are said to be having great success in their operations. The matter will be looked into by the authorities.

UNDER God's Sky, by the author of "A High Little World," and "Alice Lander," by Mrs. J. Glennie Wilson, have been received from the publishers, McMillan & Co., London and New York. This edition, which is intended for circulation only in India and the British colonies, is an exceedingly neat and handy one.

At the Bishop's Palace on Saturday Rev. Father Nicolay joined in matrimony Mr. M. K. Jones and Miss May Alice Alston, of Butte, Montana. Mr. Jones, who is now engaged in mining operations in Kootenay on behalf of a Montana syndicate, spent some time in Victoria on business in connection with the British Pacific Construction Company.

THERE was only a medium audience at the Victoria last evening to hear and witness Augustus Thomas' great play, "Alabama." The play is one of those Southern creations that draws around it much of the romance of Dixey. It is a plain, refined story, and has none of the blood and thunder element so common now-a-days. The company is well balanced and some really good work was done. Mr. F. C. Bangs as Col. Preston and Clement Fairbridge as Capt. Davenport being particularly strong in the interpretation of their parts. Ethel Irving made a charming Carey Preston. "Alabama" will be repeated to-night.

The fourth anniversary of the opening of the Metropolitan Methodist church took place on Sunday last. Both morning and evening services were conducted by Rev. Coverdale Watson of Vancouver, assisted by the pastor and Rev. Thomas Crosby. The sermons were logical masterpieces, and were listened to by large and appreciative congregations. As usual, the anthems and music of the choir under the efficient management of Mr. Clement Rowlands added much to the interest of the services. Floral decorations around the pulpit and platform were also a marked feature of the occasion. Last evening Rev. Mr. Watson and Rev. Mr. Crosby delivered special addresses at the weekly meeting of the Epworth League.

A LINSEED oil mill with a capacity of 50,000 lbs. of seed a day is shortly to be started, and will probably be located at Sidney. The promoter is Mr. M. De Keyser Verbiest, who has interested Belgian capital in the undertaking. Mr. E. E. De Keyser Goethals, a relative of Mr. Verbiest and a large manufacturer in this business, has decided to move his establishment to this province. Besides the making of linseed oil, oilcake and other products, the manufacture of canvas for oil factories and cloth will be added to the mill, which, to begin with, will employ 25 or 30 hands. While the supply of linseed will be imported to start with, Mr. Verbiest says that the farmers would do well to turn their attention to the raising of flax seed, which brings easily from $35 to $40 per acre. He is quite prepared to give farmers full information as to its cultivation.

PROFESSOR VAN GOETHEN, editor of the Gazet Van Antwerpen of Belgium, is visiting British Columbia in the interests of a Belgian company of capitalists who are seeking opportunities for investment in industries allied to agriculture. The company have already been operating in the Northwest, but the object of the present trip is more for the purpose of seeing whether such industries as flax growing, weaving and spinning and manufacturing processes generally are suited to the coast. On account of the opportunity for shipping by water Mr. Van Goethem thinks Vancouver island very favorably situated for opening up trade with Belgium. Another object he has in view is the encouragement of a good class of Belgian immigrants if arrangements can be made to secure suitable land for them to settle upon. Mr. Van Goethem is visiting his brother, Rev. Father Van Goethem, at Saanich.

THE city has decided to retain Mr. W. J. Taylor as city barrister, to appear in city cases, at a salary of $1,000 per year. Besides this it is intended to have a solicitor for city work.

THE $50,000 waterworks seven per cent. loan of 1875, when Mr. J. Drummond was Mayor, fell due yesterday, and the last payment of $4,000 was made. This is the first Victoria city loan paid off.

MR. A. ALMANZIA, boat-builder, has opened a fine boat house at Esquimalt, which is now ready for the accommodation of the public and especially celebration visitors. The boats are all new and easy rowing.

THE South Park school piano fund concert, given by the Conservatory of Music, will be held in the assembly room of South Park school to-night. The programme is an attractive one. Forty children will take part in the choruses.

A QUARTERLY official visit was paid to the Darcy Island lazaretto on Sunday last by the City Health Officer, Dr. Duncan, and the Sanitary Inspector, M. J. Conlin. The trip was made on the steamer Sadie and was mainly for the purpose of leaving the summer supplies for the seven life prisoners of disease. There were eight lepers at the station on the occasion of the last visit, but one, known as the New York Chinaman, died about ten days ago and was buried by his unfortunate companions. The latter are fast wasting away.

MR. A. L. DOLSON, who is directing the tour of Mr. John B. Willis this season in the new "Two Old Cronies," will bring to the Victoria theatre next Friday evening, May 24, a combination of specialty artists and gaudy girls that is said to excel any farce-comedy extravaganza company that has toured the country this season. There is little pretense at a plot in the new "Two Old Cronies," although the piece does tell a pretty story of love. Its drawing powers are more in the shape of clever specialties, and here is where the members of the company are seen at their best. The costumes worn in the new "Two Old Cronies" are elaborate and very elegant, and the stage setting of the piece is very fine. An extra attraction with the new "Two Old Cronies" is the English Sisters Helston in character songs and lightning dances. Their coster-monger act and the work of Miss Addie Marden, the English prima donna formerly of the D'Oyley Carte Opera Company of London, are said to be extremely clever.

AS ANTICIPATED, a large number of citizens attending the police court yesterday to listen to the evidence and argument in the Chapman-Higgins assault case. The evidence developed nothing of special interest, and the argument is not yet reached, the case standing adjourned until this morning. Mr. S. D. Schulz appeared for the complainant, Mr. Hedley Chapman, and Mr. H. Dallas Helmcken, Q. C., for the accused, Mr. W. Ralph Higgins. The defence elected for a summary trial, and a plea of not guilty was made. Then Mr. Chapman entered the witness box, and after swearing to the information charging an aggravated assault, proceeded to relate the circumstances of the fracas at the baseball game in detail. He said that he was standing at the south end of the Caledonia grounds, engaged in conversation with Mr. Parkes, when Mr. Higgins, the defendant, approached and asked if he could have a word with him. Complainant replied affirmatively and got over the fence. Defendant opened the conversation by saying, "You accused my father of blooding!" This complainant denied, and defendant then said, "My father has witnesses to prove it." Complainant's reply was that this was a matter between himself and Hon. D. W. Higgins, and he declined to recognize defendant, the son, in the affair. He then turned to leave, and was struck by defendant while his face was turned from him. Defendant then began punching him with his closed fist, striking him repeatedly on the eye and jaw, the last blow being given while complainant was stooping to pick up his hat. In cross-examination, Mr. Helmcken endeavored to go into the power-house altercation in the morning, but on an objection being raised by counsel for the complainant the Court held that while the mere fact of the morning trouble was relevant, the introduction of the details was not admissible. Mr. J. E. Parkes, paying teller of the Bank of British Columbia, and Mr. C. J. Skene were then examined as to the assault, and Dr. Milne testified as to the nature and extent of the injuries received. In the afternoon Mr. A. Lafferty was also called for the prosecution as a witness of the assault, and counsel for the defence claiming that he was taken by surprise in the introduction of this witness asked for a remand until to-day in order that he might produce a witness in contradiction. The hearing accordingly stands adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning. At the opening of yesterday's proceedings Mr. Holmcken announced that upon the comments upon this case which had appeared in the "Province," holding it to be very objectionable indeed that a paper should do anything calculated to prejudice a matter sub judice, though he hardly thought the Magistrate would be thus influenced. The Magistrate remarked that he had not read the comments and therefore they certainly would not affect his decision.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Resolution Passed to Dispense With An Assistant City Engineer After June 30.

Ald. Williams' Motion Favoring a Reception Barge Objected to and Falls.

The finding of the coroner's jury in the Barney Rourke inquest, drawing attention to the disgraceful condition of the city morgue, was presented to the city council at their meeting last night and was referred to the Chief of Police, who in future will see that the place is kept clean.

The council accepted an invitation from the A. O. F. to attend the annual demonstration in Caledonia park on June 15.

The City Barristers desired to know if the judgment against the city in the Payne case last week should be appealed. The letter was referred to the sewerage committee and Mayor to act.

To enforce the provisions regulating garden and lawn sprinkling the water committee was authorized to have a man sworn in as a special constable.

The Mayor said he had a long communication from the superintendent of the Old Men's Home which seemed rather personal. Would the council have it read or should it be referred to the Home committee? The council decided to hear the letter, which proved to be a denial of the charges that the superintendent had been under the influence of liquor, and was generally incompetent. He accused Ald. Williams of speaking falsely and of being desirous of putting a "satellite" in his place.

Ald. PARTRIDGE moved that the letter be sent back to the writer.

Ald. WILLIAMS stated that at the investigations it was plainly proved that Sutherland had been under the influence of liquor. The alderman indignantly denied having any intention of trying to put any friend of his in Sutherland's place. In regard to Ald. Wilson's statement that the present man saved $38 a month for washing, Ald. Williams showed that in no month had the washing ever cost more than $22.

Ald. BRAGG took exception to any official using the language Sutherland had done in reference to a member of the board. Sutherland should be discharged for doing so.

Ald. McLELLAN also took exception to the language of the letter.

Ald. WILSON said Sutherland had shown him the letter and he (Ald. Wilson) had advised that instead of it being published in the press it should be sent to the council. If Sutherland drank, Ald. Williams ought to have informed the committee.

Ald. McLELLAN upheld Sutherland's right to defend his character, and accused Ald. Williams of taking upon himself to contradict the home committee chairman's orders.

This Ald. Williams denied. Ald. Bragg here wanted Ald. Macmillan to stick to the letter as the subject under discussion, and Ald. Macmillan asked the Mayor to call the alderman to order and not allow him to interrupt.

Ald. Partridge's motion to refer the letter back to the writer was carried.

The electric light committee recommended that the new superintendent, Mr. M. Hutchison, take charge on the 22nd instant. This was adopted.

A petition was read from D. J. McDonald and other ratepayers protesting against the road between the shore line of Ross Bay and section 81 being blocked by the cemetery fence.

Ald. WILLIAMS explained that the committee had acted in accordance with what they were informed in the city engineer's office were the plans.

The finance committee were granted $800. The water committee reported recommending that as the plans for the filter beds were now ready the tenders for the cofferdam be returned and tenders for the whole work be called for.

Ald. Macmillan held that the committee should carry out the resolution of the council to let the tenders for the cofferdam.

Ald. BRAGG, for the committee, explained that the lowest tenders did not comply with the conditions, and as the plans for the filter beds were now ready it was considered better to have tenders called for the whole work at once.

Ald. Macmillan moved that the work be done by day work. This was seconded by Ald. Williams.

In amendment, Ald. McLELLAN moved the adoption of the report. The amendment was carried, Ald. Macmillan, Williams and Cameron voting against it.

Ald. WILLIAMS asked leave to move a resolution without notice. Any suggestion that might be made to afford a proper reception to prominent visitors he would favor. He looked upon the salary paid the aldermen as for the city's good and not as a personal advantage to themselves. He moved that the aldermen devote $25 each out of their salaries for a temperance reception barge at the regatta on the 24th, and read a list of the aldermen for 1891, showing that they had each that year given $20 towards a similar purpose.

Ald. Macmillan objected to the motion as out of order, and for himself would not allow anyone to vote $25 out of his money.

THE MAYOR remarked that there was abundance of money collected for the celebration to cover prizes and reception, but the young men in charge wanted to keep all the money for their own prizes.

Ald. McLELLAN objected to the motion being entertained. Ald. Williams must be crazy to want to vote away someone else's money. He had given away more money in charity in ten minutes than Ald. Williams had in his whole life.

The motion on account of the objections was dropped.

The by-law permitting the sale of property two years in arrears of taxes was introduced.

Ald. PARTRIDGE moved to fix the city

Ald. WILSON in amendment wanted the assistant engineer retained as plumbing inspector and to get up the sewer connections. The amendment was lost and the original motion carried.

The council then adjourned.

A GENERAL meeting of the Victoria Liberal-Conservative Association will be held to-night in the Adelphi block when some interesting business will come up.

A LARGELY attended meeting of the Natural History Society was held last evening. Three new members were elected, and several interesting specimens submitted. One was a bone shaped like a loaf and supposed to have been part of the vertebrae of a whale. The others were trout, both curiously malformed. Capt. Elmes, of Gloucestershire, England, who has been paying the province a few days' visit, was present and added very materially to the interest of the meeting by his remarks. Capt. Elmes, who is president of the English Entomological Society, spoke highly of the work of the Natural History Society and expressed himself as highly pleased to find so large and vigorous an association in existence here. In his opinion the field for a local society of the kind is a wide and useful one. With the exception of the birds of the Northwest Coast, the fauna and flora are but little known in Europe, and from a natural history point of view the great Cassiar and Cariboo districts and the Far North regions were practically to the European collectors a vast terra incognita. He was quite sure that many of the species and not a few of the genera would be of great scientific interest at home. Various phases of the subject were discussed, and the meeting adjourned with a much keener appreciation of the work of the society. Capt. Elmes left last evening for England.

FROM CORINTO.

H. M. S. "Royal Arthur" Back From the South—Captain Trench Dies at Sea.

The Flagship Meets the "Hyacinth" With Disabled Propeller and Tows Her In.

The flagship Royal Arthur returned early Sunday afternoon from Corinto, where in company with the Satellite and Wild Swan she enforced Great Britain's demand for $75,000 indemnity for the insolent treatment by Nicaragua of the British deputy consul and other citizens. This little episode was of course a welcome change for the Jack tars from the usual monotonous cruise, but after all there was not a great deal of excitement, with the exception of once or twice, when it seemed as if an armed collision might take place with the troops of the little republic. The Royal Arthur has been away from here since November 3, when she sailed for Acapulco; after a stay there of six weeks she cruised along the coast, touching at Colima, Coquimbo and Valparaiso, and also at Juan Fernandez Island. Finally, early in April, she lay at Panama waiting for the settlement of the Nicaraguan difficulty. As President Zelaya would not come to terms, the ships were ordered to Corinto as an additional argument in Britain's favor. On April 22 the Royal Arthur, Satellite and Wild Swan, the last a screw sloop of 1,130 tons, commissioned at Davenport December 6 and despatched for the Pacific station, sailed into Corinto harbor and took up their position in front of the town. Corinto is a small place, not much better than a village, but is the seaport for the capital, Managua, situated further inland. Corinto, as everyone who has followed the course of events there knows, is on an island and is connected with the mainland by a fine bridge. There were 100 soldiers in Corinto when the fleet appeared, but they speedily took to the woods as the four or five seven-pounder guns they possessed were not very formidable weapons to oppose to the big guns of the warships.

On next day Commander Stokes went ashore and presented his despatches, the President being given to understand that the ships were there strictly on business, and urgent business at that. On the 25th, when the Nicaraguans became convinced that they would have to pay up or allow the British to take possession of Corinto, they secretly, as they imagined, dismounted a seven-pounder that was in position near the lighthouse, and placing it in their revenue cutter covered it over with gravel so as to hide it. The same day Senor G. Bravo, a high official of the government, came off to the Admiral and tried unsuccessfully to get an extension of time.

On April 27, under cover of the guns of the fleet, a force of 300 men landed and occupied the town; the Union Jack was hoisted, and Captain Trench of the Royal Arthur made governor. Then only thirty men were left to guard the town, though a good lookout was kept on the bridge approaches and the structure itself covered by the guns of the Satellite. The occupation was conducted so satisfactorily that the signal came from the flagship:

"The Admiral is much pleased at the very satisfactory manner in which the occupation of the town was conducted this morning; the punctuality, steadiness and general appearance of the men reflected great credit on all concerned."

The Nicaraguan forces to the number of 2,000 were posted behind a gravel ridge on the mainland, and it was for a time thought that they would make an attack. On April 30, as an extra precaution, the guards were doubled, and under the metals of the railway gun cotton was placed in mines to give a decidedly warm reception should the Nicaraguans attempt to cross the bridge. Three officers of the fleet in plain clothes ventured too near the enemy's line, and before they could retreat an armored train passed them on the railway, stopped and a body of soldiers jumped off and surrounded the officers, who however were released through the good offices of their interpreter. The men from the fleet got along very well with the inhabitants of Corinto, and had strict orders to treat everyone kindly. It was found, however, that by some hidden influence, the storekeepers were prevailed upon to refuse to sell goods to the British.

This resulted in the arrest of a man named Casimira, formerly mayor of the town, and a man of great influence. He had gone about intimidating the storekeepers by saying he would have them executed when the British left, if any provisions were sold to the invaders. No trouble of this kind was experienced afterwards. After the settlement of the trouble the Satellite was sent to sea on May 4, the occupation of the town terminating that day and the railway and telegraph line having been repaired. The next day the Royal Arthur recognized the Nicaraguan flag by firing 21 guns, and she and the Wild Swan started north for Esquimalt. The Wild Swan was towed to sea and is coming under sail as she has no coal; the Satellite is under sail for the same reason. The Royal Arthur, however, carries a large amount of fuel and had plenty to bring her home. The others will call at Acapulco.

A very regrettable occurrence was the death of Captain Trench, of the Royal Arthur, on May 10, when off the Mexican coast. He died of gastritis after an illness of 48 hours, and as it was in the tropics he was buried at sea with naval honors the same evening, in lat. 19° 41' N., long 106° 37' W., off Cape Corinto.

Frederick Porcival Trench was born March 27, 1849, and was therefore 46 years of age. Among his services he was 1st Lieutenant of the Turquoise during the military and naval operations in the Eastern Sudan at Suakin 1884-5; he received the Egyptian medal and Khedive's bronze star. He took part in the Burmese conquest in 1885-6, was present at the fighting at Mithia, and at the capture of Mandalay. In command of the launch Kathleen he assisted in the successful cutting out of a Burmese war vessel from under the guns of the forts at Mithia. For this he was promoted and mentioned in naval and military dispatches. For the Burmah campaign he received the medal and clasp.

The vacancy caused by Capt. Trench's death has been temporarily filled by Commander Stokes, acting captain; Senior Lieut. W. Nicholson being made acting commander, and Lieut. Hornby senior Lieutenant. The Royal Arthur touched one place on the way up, at Monterey, on May 16.

In tow the Royal Arthur brought H.M.S. Hyacinth, which after a cruise among the Pacific islands put into Valparaiso on March 10 with her propeller injured. Not having a mechanical diver this could not be repaired, and the Royal Arthur meeting the Hyacinth at Valparaiso towed her out to sea and sent her north under sail, consequently the Hyacinth has been 57 days

Paine's Celery Compound Saves a Well-Known Norfolk County Farmer.

Completely Cured After Four of the Best Doctors had Failed.

Few men in Norfolk County, Ontario, are better or more favorably known than Mr. Joseph Rolston, of Nixon. This gentleman, some time ago, was in such an extremely alarming condition of health, that relatives and friends were fearful of results. Four skilled physicians did all for the sick man that could be done, but a cure was beyond their best efforts. Providentially, Mr. Rolston was induced to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, with the result that sickness and disease were banished, and a valuable life saved to the community. Mr. Rolston, who writes for the benefit of suffering men and women, has his statements vouched for by two well-known Methodist ministers, Rev. T. R. Clark, of Delhi, and Rev. D. Williams, of Nixon.

Mr. Rolston says:—

"It gives me great pleasure to add my testimony to the ever increasing popularity of your preparation known as Paine's Celery Compound. It is now a year past since I had a severe attack of nervous prostration caused by chronic dyspepsia, and for a year I could not sleep at night. This condition of sleeplessness brought on delirium. I was attended by four of the best doctors of the country, and took a great quantity of medicine, but all failed to do me any good. Having been persuaded to read your books I thought I would try your Paine's Celery Compound; and after I had used four bottles the nervousness and dyspepsia left me, and I have done more work since than for years past. I now enjoy excellent health and consider myself completely cured. I have highly recommended your Paine's Celery Compound to others, and I know of several persons who are now using it."

LATEST STYLE OF HAIRDRESSING.

It Covers Over the Ears and Makes Some Faces Very Pretty.

The Parisian fashion of wearing the hair parted down the middle, waved over the ears, entirely hiding them from view, and caught up in a loose knot just above the nape of the neck, is more and more in evidence, and we find it very prettily illustrated by a number of women to whom this style is extraordinarily becoming. Pretty flaxen hair is undoubtedly the first thing required to make this fashion a success, and an absolutely perfect oval face, which is rare in this age and generation, is the second, but when the face is suited to the style its charms are enhanced to such an extent that a woman often develops a beauty which she never dreamed she possessed. It is said that a French danseuse with this particular style of face revived this fashion of 50 years ago.

When the forehead is low enough to stand the revelation, the face purely oval in outline and the features regular, there is no disputing the charm of this fashion. The real proportions of the face are brought out, and the forehead, minus the fringe down to the eyebrows, reveals an expression entirely unknown before. The hair should be full, waved thoroughly and puffed out a little at the sides, so it will tumble over the ears in an apparently careless yet studied manner which cannot look untidy. The art of Parisian hairdressing is in giving the coiffure a careless effect, combined with perfect neatness. In the old portraits of women painted by Sir Joshua Reynolds and Gainsborough the hair is almost invariably in this style, and the size of the face appears so small that it looks like a dainty flower in its full soft setting. The New York Sun gives illustrated examples of this latest Parisian style of hairdressing, which New York women have already taken up.

A Portable Bookshelf.

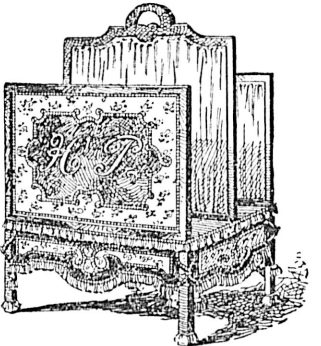

To make a portable bookshelf with clips to hold any required number of books, so that they may be lifted on or off the table together, take an oak shelf a half inch thick and planed smoothly on both sides. To this two sheet metal clips are to be applied, so that they may slide on the shelf and hold a larger or smaller number of volumes erect. An oblong piece of tin or brass, about three inches wide and three times as long as the shelf is broad, will form one of these clips. It is to be bent up at each side of the shelf, and, being cut nearly half through level with the upper surface of the shelf, one-half of each upright is again bent at right angles to the rest, thus securing a hold on the board and forming a rest for the end volumes of the set. Through holes in the upturned portions a silk cord may be passed, serving for a handle. These clips may be beautifully ornamented by punching and chasing. Care should be taken to punch from the side which will be turned toward the books; otherwise a great deal of work with the file will be necessary to remove rough edges.

To Roast a Goose.

Clean and wash the same as a turkey. Make a dressing of six or eight potatoes well boiled and mashed, two onions chopped very fine, two teaspoonfuls of sage, one of salt and one of pepper. Put it into the body of the goose and sew it up. Roast it two hours, basting it frequently in its own drippings. When about half done, turn off the fat in the roaster. The last drippings are sufficient for the gravy. To make the gravy put the gizzard, neck and liver into a saucepan with a quart of water and a little pepper, salt and mace. Let it boil down to about half a pint. When done, strain up the liver very fine with a knife and put it back into the water it was boiled in, then add the drippings of the goose, thicken it with a little flour rubbed smooth in a little cold water and give it one boil, stirring it all the time.

Novel Music Stand.

In every household where there is a musician a music stand is a necessity. A receptacle for sheet music and music books is not only a convenience, but a preservative of that which costs much money. A model in the way of a music stand which is both novel and useful may be made in plain whitewood covered with either ruby or peacock blue plush, set off with bands of bright brocade and old gold lace, with which harmonizes the chenille fringe and tassels. The inside, with its high partition, is lined and draped with satin or surah silk in a contrasting shade. This stand is equally appropriate for engravings or newspapers.

The Carnival of 1895 in Honor of Queen's Birthday Offers Especially Strong Attractions.

The Regatta, the International Yacht Races and a Sham Battle and Review of the Troops.

Each of the three days of Victoria's Queen's Birthday celebration is to have its own special and great attraction, these being cemented together with a host of lesser but also interesting events—bicycle parades, baseball, cricket, lacrosse and other matches, trap shooting, tug-of-war tournament, and a multitude of equestrian. The features are:

Thursday—The yacht races, Friday—Regatta at the Gorge, and Saturday—Sham battle and review at Beacon Hill.

Arrangements for the last great drawing card were completed yesterday when a committee of influential citizens waited upon Admiral Stephenson on board the Royal Arthur. The Admiral entered heartily into the proposition to have a sham fight as part of the celebration, and preparations for this attractive military display will be actively pushed during the week. It is expected that the Vancouver company of the B. C. B. G. A. will be able to attend, and from reports that have come down of its strength and efficiency it is evident that to hold their own the three Victoria companies will have to do their very best.

The Royal Marine Artillery and the Royal Marine Light Infantry, as well as the Royal Engineers will take part, so that it is expected there will be about 1,000 men or more in the parade.

The forces will be under the command of Admiral Stephenson. According to present expectations the defending force, commanded by Lieut. Col. Rawstone, R.M.A., will consist of the Royal Marine Artillery from Work Point barracks and the Royal Marine Light Infantry, upwards of 250 men, with the Victoria and Vancouver companies of the British Columbia Garrison Artillery, the latter, in the absence of Lt. Col. Prior, being in command of Lt. Col. Peters, D.A.G. These will occupy a position on Beacon Hill and will be attacked some time about 11 o'clock Saturday morning by the Naval brigade—practically the same, by the way, that so recently occupied Cerinto and there replaced the Niagara flag with the Union Jack—five hundred or more blue-jackets under Captain Stokes, R.M., of H.M.S. Royal Arthur. After the sham battle there will be a general review of the forces by the Admiral, the display to conclude with the usual march past. Undoubtedly this will prove the great attraction of the Carnival.

PERFECTING PREPARATIONS.

The Sports and Games Committee Rearrange Their Programme—A Strong List of Attractions.

The sports and games committee held their final meeting last evening, when permission was granted to V. H. Sutton, the champion long distance walker of Chicago, to exhibit at Beacon Hill, "provided that he does not obstruct the naval review." The application of the Victoria College Cricket Club for an appropriation to entertain a visiting club was refused, as no funds are available for the purpose. In view of the fact that the naval review and sham fight is a fixture for Saturday morning, the sports and games are now set for one o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the bicyclists having themselves perfected arrangements for the fancy parades, and the gun clubs having the promise of competition with the Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver gun clubs in the trap shooting tournament at Beacon Hill early Saturday morning. The Capitals of Victoria and the Maple Leaves of Westminster play at the Oak Bay recreation park on Saturday. The band of the B. C. B. G. A. will be at Beacon Hill, while the sports are in progress Thursday afternoon, the programme of events being briefly as follows:

100 yards handicap	Prices
220 yards.....	$ 5.00 $2.50
440 yards.....	7.50 2.50
1 mile.....	7.50 2.50
100 yards sack race.....	10.00 5.00
150 yards three legs race.....	5.00 2.50
Navy and army race only.....	7.50 2.50

The amateur programme will be arranged to-day on similar lines, and the committee request that the Victoria v. Seattle High school baseball match be played on Thursday instead of Friday morning. There will be a meeting of the regatta committee—not of the general committee—this evening, and all regatta entries must be in the hands of the general secretary before 8 o'clock this evening. The finance committee will hold its final meeting to-morrow evening.

Everything points to a very large attendance from neighboring cities, excursions being promised from each. Dr. T. J. Jones, president of the B. C. Dental Association, left last evening for Seattle as the delegate of his association to the Washington State Dental Association, and will bring back the members of that organization practically in a body on Thursday. The Pacific club has thrown open its hospitable doors to welcome the visiting yachtsmen and canoeists, and the former can obtain the necessary credentials by applying to Mr. George Shedd, secretary of the V.Y.C. The James Bay, too, are determined that none of the visitors shall miss the customary hospitality. At a meeting last evening they appointed the following committees to represent the club in extending a welcome to all its friends on regatta day:

Tent erection committee—W. R. Higgins, F. L. Macfarlane, W. D. Aden, J. J. Wilson, and F. Wollaston.

Reception committee—Ven. Archdeacon Soriven (chairman), W. R. Higgins and D. B. McConnan, 1 to 2; F. L. Macfarlane, W. Askew, H. Mason and G. Smith, 2 to 3; J. B. Giffen, T. A. Ker, J. N. Wilson and J. H. Austin, 3 to 4.

AMONG THE YACHTS.

Details for Thursday's Regatta—The Home and the Visiting Fleets.

At a special meeting of the Victoria yacht club last evening it was decided to place a time limit of five hours on Thursday's races. There will be over the new triangular course off Dallas road, the points of the triangle being marked by anchored stakeboats instead of buoys, the yachts at no point in the race being distant more than a mile and a half from shore. The yachts will carry distinguishing numbers on either side of their main-sails while the different classes will be recognized by the class flags, A class carrying red, B white, C blue, and D yellow. If a recall is necessary the gun will be fired within five minutes and the color of the class recalled will be hoisted. The preparatory gun for the yachts will be fired promptly at 12:45 Thursday, and the starting gun at one o'clock. The steamer T. W. Carter will follow the yachts carrying the judges and referee—Captain J. D. Warren and Captain H. R. Foot acting as judges, and Captain Balcom of the Walter L. K. ch, as referee. The starters and timers are Messrs. A. H. Burns, T. Lawrie and William Craft.

The yachts belonging to the Victoria yacht club are being overhauled and put in sailing condition, and visitors are beginning to arrive. Sunday afternoon the trim yacht Linda, flagship of the Seattle club, came in, flying Commodore Johnson's flag. The Linda is a sloop-rigged yacht of 41.6 feet long, 14 foot beam, 4 foot draft, and carries four tons of lead on her keel. Her interior arrangements are almost perfect. She left Seattle Saturday and arrived here Sunday afternoon, having had light winds all the way over. The Commodore expects the following boats from Seattle: White Swan, American, Rainier, Kelpie, Nora, Foam, Doris and Evelyn May. The Linda's party is composed of Commodore Johnson, H. W. Baker, George W. Fischer, F. Bauman, G. V. P. Lansing and J. J. Madigan.

Yesterday afternoon the Typhoon and Josephine, which belong to the Everett yacht club, came in. The former left Everett Sunday noon and spent the night at Port Townsend. The Typhoon is a sloop-rigged boat, 35 feet long, 11 foot beam and draws 3.6 feet of water. Her crew is made up as follows: Captain J. Goldfinch, H. B. Goldfinch, J. R. Van Dyke, J. A. Bishop and J. Logie. The Typhoon had as tow a queer little boat known as a bouncer yawl. It is 16 feet long with 3 foot beam, and can sail in very heavy weather. A like boat is expected from Port Townsend and the two intend to race. The Bernice, for that is her name, carries as captain and crew C. Ferrier White, of Everett.

The Storm King is expected from Everett to-day. The Vancouver skiff Flora came in yesterday forenoon, having had a long trip. She left Vancouver at 8 a.m. Saturday, spent the night on Admiral Island, leaving at 7 the next morning. The second night was spent at Ten Mile point, the boat coming in from there in the forenoon. Captain J. A. Thurston, F. Copthorne and S. Mortimer make up the crew.

The Josephine is a schooner-rigged boat, 52 feet long and 12 feet wide. She left Everett Sunday morning, stopping at Port Townsend over night. Her party of nine includes Captain J. W. Kelly, Mrs. Kelly, Miss Kelly, J. J. Manly, G. Stanford, Mr. Post, and Judge Reynolds and M. Kelly, of Tacoma. The Josephine had heavy head winds all the way over.

Among the Victoria yachts which will take part in the races this year are the Froa Froa, Commodore Kirk's new boat, the Volage, the Viola, the Dora, the Irene, the Plunger, the Edith and the Annie.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A MEDICINE WITHOUT AN EQUAL.

Statement of a Well Known Doctor

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is without an equal as a blood-purifier and Spring medicine, and cannot have praise enough. I have watched its effects in chronic cases, where other treatment was of no avail, and have been astonished at the results. No other blood medicine that I have ever used, and I have tried them all, is so thorough in its action, and effects so many permanent cures as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Dr. H. F. MERRILL, Augusta, Me.
